MAYOR'S BUDGET MESSAGE AND PRESENTATION OF BUDGET ORDINANCE

COUNCIL PRESIDENT HAXTON appoints MAJORITY LEADER SCIARRETTA and MINORITY LEADER PEARLMAN to escort HIS HONOR MAYOR JOSEPH A. DOORLEY, JR., to the Chamber of the Council where he delivers the following Budget Message and submits the Budget Ordinance:

May 17, 1973

To The Honorable The City Council of the City of Providence
City Hall
Providence, Rhode Island

Gentlemen:

In the opening sentence of my Budget Message to you last year I reiterated my previous statement that the fiscal condition of this City was traumatic. Towards the conclusion of that Message I stated that the future appeared somewhat brighter due to the prospect of general federal revenue sharing which would be of some assistance to the Property Taxpayer.

While the new monies from General Revenue Sharing will not produce a Tax Reduction—and, I might add that such a move would be a boost to those members of Congress who oppose the whole concept of Revenue Sharing—these monies will allow for at least a temporary period of tax stabilization.

This balanced budget which I present to you this year provides for a maintenance of effort to meet our required Municipal needs and at the same time requires no Tax increase.

I mention a temporary period of Tax stabilization because I believe the facts indicate the way of the road ahead. This is the ninth budget I have presented to this honorable body. During the fiscal year I first assumed office the projected expenditures were $46,159,931. This year the anticipated costs of meeting the basic needs of this City are $80,014,799.31. Last year at this time I projected expenditures of $76,070,746.51. Subsequent to the passage of that budget we had Teacher, Police, Fire and General Employee Wage increases, New Fring Benefits and Pension Costs, runaway inflation—to name but a few of our financial crises. Without General Revenue Sharing the City would have had great difficulty in meeting its obligations.

This Year all Wage Packages have been firmed up with the exception of a Teacher Salary Structure. This does permit us to present a more realistic budget picture than has been presented in the past. However, costs of materials, equipment and new needs and requirements can only be anticipated not absolutely projected.

Let us examine the Revenue expectations before I start the review of the proposed expenditures. The projected receipts from property taxes is up by $500,000 because of increased valuations. However, anticipated receipts from State Shared Taxes are down by almost the same amount because of the formulas which control distribution of such state taxes and the decline of Revenue from Pari-Mutual betting. The anticipated receipts from fines has been reduced by $110,000 because our 1972-73 estimate was too high.

In the receipt category of grants-in-aid from the State of Rhode Island and the federal government an increase of almost $450,000 is shown. However, it must be noted that this increase is for general public assistance which is strictly a wash item in our budget. In fact, it is my position that this item should no longer appear in our budget since it is strictly a state-federal program. The city handles all the accounting, advances the money, and then must wait for reimbursement. All employees are members of the state service; there is no city money involved; the present system only inflates the city's budget figure. I propose that the state assume full control of the program.

In the same category as a result of the general public assistance item increase, it would appear we are receiving additional state aid. This is not the fact. Let us examine the various aid programs to the school department. Federal money for the Providence plan is down; federal money for handicapped children is down; all federal monies passing through the State of Rhode Island is way down. The only item that keeps the grants-in-aid to education in balance is state aid to education. I must point out that while there is a $300,000 increase in this item the people of the City of Providence must expend seventy cents for every thirty cents it receives back in this revenue item. We spent $1,000,000 to secure the $300,000 reimbursement.

General department revenue is down by almost $1,000,000. Last year we transferred that amount from the department of planning and urban development which it had accumulated from the sale of land in the various redevelopment projects and applied that money towards debt service. This year we do not have that accumulated source of funds.

The new substantial receipt is the general revenue sharing item. The anticipated $5,531,750 is made up of $1,227,371 already received and four payments totaling $4,184,779 that is expected to be received in fiscal 1973-74. The balance of $119,600 is interest we have received from temporary investments while waiting to use this fiscal year's money.

To balance the budget I am anticipating drawing from the reserve for extraordinary expenditures $750,000. As of this date I naturally do not have a final figure as to what our surplus for this fiscal year will be, but whatever it is, if over and above the needed $750,000 it will be set aside for next year's fiscal needs.

Our total anticipated receipts amount to $80,- 034,555. Our expenditures are projected to be $80,014,799.

As we review the expenditure differences in this year's budget over those of last year's we can see that Item 0 — Personal Services — in each department accounts for the substantial increases. This is for the most part a result of warranted wage increases.

In the Mayor's office two additional people are being added to the staff. Both have been with the office for some time and until this fiscal year have been paid under the Emergency Employment Act.

In the Law Department the appropriation for claims against the city has been doubled. Last year we gave this department a fund to satisfy all legitimate claims against the city. That $50,000 required a supplementary appropriation during the present fiscal year. This year we are providing $100,000. This may be the time to consider insuring the city or at least securing coverage beyond specific claim level.

Other than general wage increases the only other major change in the Department of Finance is data processing. Here again, increased costs and wages to the provider of this city service warrants an increase.

In the Department of Public Safety there are increases all across the board. Police wages and benefits are being increased. However, the number of personnel is being reset at the figure the department has actually operated at for the past several years. That is why Item 0 does not show a substantial increase. I will cover this point in more detail in a moment. As a result of the purchase of new equipment and the centralization of maintenance and repair in cooperation with the Fire Department, repairs to automotive equipment have been dramatically reduced. The cost of materials and supplies has been increased due to inflation and anticipated fuel cost increases.

In the Fire Department I have provided $300,000 to implement a physical plant improvement program. Within the very near future an intensive, professional study of that department will be completed. We are well on our way to greatly improving our apparatus rating. Now I propose to improve conditions in the fire stations.

I would like to take a moment to review the initial concept of the creation of a Department of Communications. Our purpose was to centralize this important aspect of public safety and put back into the field those police and fire personnel who were trained for actual field work. The plan was to replace this trained personnel with civilians who could operate the communications facilities. This we have done. There are more policemen available for field work and more firemen in the fire fighting force. For some time under the Emergency Employment Act we have been supporting the civilian force with federal funds. Now is the time to make it a fully supported municipal operation. For that reason the personnel budget is increased by $130,000. In addition our telephone costs have increased by $50,000.

The Department of Public Works increases are again the result of wages, increased costs of power, fuel, chemicals, materials and supplies. There are no new positions. We are combining the garbage and waste collection sections into one section — waste collection and processing. This area deserves special mention.

As of this date we are experimenting with a new disposal operation. If it is successful, major readjustments in this budget will be required during the fiscal year. It is premature to make specific recommendations tonight. If this system works, the entire waste collection and processing system will be revamped.

May I point out that our street lighting bill has again increased. We may expect further increases as we continue to brighten the streets of the residential and downtown areas.

The Department of Recreation budget has been separated into two parts — permanent and seasonal. This more properly reflects the activities of the department.

The same concept has been applied to the Department of Public Properties. However, other than the already mentioned wage increases, there are no major item increases. During the year, I propose to transfer out of public property back to recreation certain allocations for personnel and materials. This should pinpoint responsibility for the maintenance of our recreation centers, playgrounds and pools.

I have decreased the appropriation for the Board of Canvassers because this is not an election year. However, I have already received requests for additional monies to support a constitutional convention primary and election. I will do my best to minimize the cost of this activity to the Providence taxpayers.

The budget of the Department of Planning and Urban Development has been cut. Positions have been eliminated. Until we can determine in what direction the federal government intends to travel we can only maintain our effort in on-going projects.

A new item has been recommended in this budget. I am recommending that all emergency, temporary and seasonal help dollars be combined into one account under the control of the mayor and the finance director. As an emergency arises, as temporary or seasonal help is needed the same shall be funded. This will provide for better fiscal control and personnel record keeping.

Increases in contributions to the Employees Retirement System, the Laborers International Pension Fund, Blue Cross and Major Medical, and FICA are all due to wage settlements and negotiations.

Just a few years ago our demolition account was initiated with a $10,000 appropriation. Tonight I am asking for $100,000 for the demolition of unsafe and abandoned structures.

The City of Providence has never had a realistic Insurance Fund. We have always faced each crisis as it came along. A basic fund of $50,000 was always patched up with a supplementary appropriation as the fund was drawn on to make repairs after a fire. I propose to add $50,000 to the existing fund this year and to continue to do so as long as fiscally able. In that way if we are spared a disaster, the fund can accumulate and when and if needed will be available to meet a real need without crippling the General Fund.

In this Budget I have allowed for something I believe every Councilman in this room supports. A Tax Exemption of Owner occupied real property of Senior Citizens. I have not detailed who would be entitled to this exemption for there are many views and much study is needed. I support the concept and will join with you in developing an equitable formula.

In conclusion, I trust that I have presented a philosophy of municipal finance which will not satisfy all of our people or all of our taxpayers, but which is based on what we can realistically afford when we are so dependent on the Real Property Tax. That philosophy is taking hold. I have cut department requests by over $2,000,000. However, last year those requests ran $6,000,000 over the final recommended budget. After years of frustration, the School Department and the School Committee recognize our ability to pay. For this reason I am recommending to you their final request. It calls for an increase, but a realistic one. I encourage them to continue to get maximum utilization of every dollar. Educational personnel needs, as in the City, must be consistently reviewed. A declining school population mandates less personnel. We need apologize to no one for our teacher pupil ratio. We must apologize if we maintain the status quo.

The City is moving forward. The Civic Center is everything we hoped for. New buildings are coming out of the ground and others moving towards completion.

The greatest inducement for the revitalization of a City is the expansion of its Tax Base and the relative stabilization of its Tax Rate.

Thank You,

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH A. DOORLEY, JR.
