Amendments to Automated Traffic Violation Monitoring System (Red Light Camera)

S 2706/H 7195

- In 2005, the Rhode Island General Assembly allowed the City of Providence to install cameras systems at red lights that, when set off by a sensor, record red light runners. The approval was granted with a three-year sunset clause, requiring Providence to seek permission to continue the program in 2008.
- The City of Providence's Automated Traffic Violation Monitoring System Safety Program began at 2 intersections on April 23, 2006. Since May 2007 there have been a total of 25 enforced intersections throughout the City of Providence.
- In calendar year 2006 (4/23-12/31), Providence's ATVMS captured 17,323 total red light runners. In calendar year 2007 (1/1-12/31), Providence's ATVMS captured 66,588 total red light runners.
- The observed decrease in red light running violations, by approach is as follows:
 - 64% Raymond NB @ Chalkstone
 - 74% Eaton EB @ Huxley
 - 41% Valley NB @ River
 - 34% Steeple WB @ Canal
 - 80% Oakland SB @ Chalkstone
 - 88% Eaton WB @ Huxley
 - 54% Valley SB @ River
- The Providence Municipal Court sees approximately 45 hearings for ATVMS program issued tickets per week. This translates into less than 3% of those violating a red light appearing in court. In calendar year 2006, the court dismissed only 1.7% of all ATVMS Program issued tickets.
- There have been no allegations of misuse of the program, nor of infringement upon civil rights. These were the chief arguments for the sunset clause.
- The program has proven to be successful in increasing the safety of Providence. This act would remove the sunset provision of July 19, 2008 from the Rhode Island Automated Traffic Violations Monitoring Systems Act of 2005, would change the period of time required to issue a violation under the act from 14 days to 14 business days, and clarify the law by making the Good Driver Defense under section 31-41.1-7 unavailable for this type of violation.
