It is my understanding that Mr. D'Uva has applied for an auction license in the City of Providence. I have been personally acquainted with him for twelve years and have only the highest regard for his keen sense of judgement and personal integrity. He is a very solid citizen who has succeeded in managing several diversified business enterprises and has made numerous civic contributions. It is my considered opinion that Mr. D'Uva would be a definite asset to virtually any civic organization or business community.

Very sincerely,

Gentlemen:

I understand that Mrs. Laura Francis of 1149 Chalkstone Avenue in Providence, Rhode Island, is applying for an auctioneer's license.

During the past 10 years, when I have known Mrs. Francis and her family, I have found her to be conscientious, honest and trustworthy in anything that she undertakes. She has been indirectly involved in merchandising for a number of years, and I am sure that she would qualify as an able person to have an Auctioneer's license.

She has also been represented by me on various occasions so that in the event she does get the Auctioneer's license, I will be glad to inform her of her duties and obligations as a licensed Auctioneer. Consequently, I recommend the City Council to grant her an Auctioneer's license.

Respectfully submitted,
