

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL

No. 169

Approved March 26, 1999

WHEREAS, A cranky and unpredictable northeaster spun through Rhode Island on Thursday February 25, and Monday March 15, 1999 blowing up a fuss of snow and putting an atmospheric exclamation point on an otherwise humdrum February and March, and,

WHEREAS, For tens of thousands of schoolchildren, it was a fabulous event, because the storm closed virtually every school in the State, and,

WHEREAS, While the schools were closed it did force many business, plants, courts, and some municipal government offices to close and with the number of cancellations, people did pay heed to the advice of Police and State Police and stayed home, and

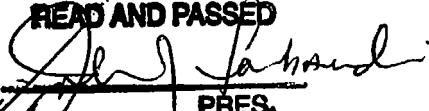

WHEREAS, In Providence, Mayor Vincent A. Cianci Jr. held a news conference to explain that the city has created a hot line for the elderly, and

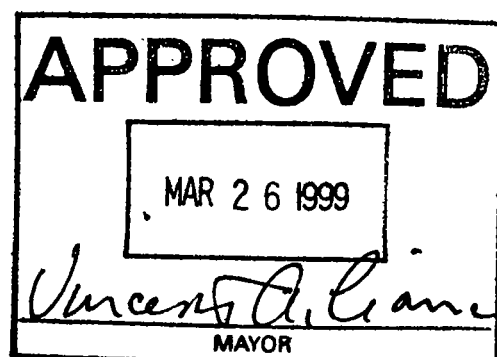

WHEREAS, In the interim while the Mayor was having the news conference, the Director of Public Works and his assistants were mapping out their strategy, while directing the highway crews, and

WHEREAS, The highway crews and the radio room did an extremely wonderful job on the main roads and side streets, by keeping them passable with the plowing and salting of the highways and byways, and

WHEREAS, This also couldn't have been done without the highway inspectors doing their jobs by keeping the vendors busy and directing them to what streets needed to be done, and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Members of the Providence City Council do hereby congratulate the Department of Public Works for a job well done for the storms on February 25 and March 15, 1999.
