

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL

No. 659

Approved December 21, 1956

Whereas, Upon Wednesday, December 12, 1956, there died suddenly in Providence, Rhode Island, one of the best known and most widely loved and respected men at Brown University, Dr. Samuel Tomlinson Arnold, Provost of the University.

An editorial writer summarized the attributes of this rare personality succinctly when these paragraphs were written:

"Sam Arnold, the nickname of genuine affection carried with it a deep respect for the unostentatious achievements of a man who was humble in the scriptural meaning.

"Sam Arnold never sought anything for himself or for the benefit of his career in all his life, and that was why assignments, duties, distinctions and plain hard work sought him out: because he was Sam - trustworthy, capable, honest and cheerful. Other men have these qualities too, but without drawing to themselves in so full a measure the unreluctant regard in which he was held. His secret (probably unknown to himself) was a natural goodness of heart, even innocence, which had no room for guile, tricks or sham. His life was a testimony of power in a competitive world of uncalculated goodness."

The City Council has been well aware of the splendid contribution Dr. Arnold has made to education as Chairman of the Department of Chemistry at Brown, Dean, Vice-President and Provost. With genuine integrity he devoted himself to the welfare and good repute of the institution which he loved and for which he worked with an unwearying devotion.

It is indeed true that "the luminosity of that rare personality will continue to shine around the halls and in the long memory of the University, as well as in the community"; and now,

Therefore, be it Resolved, that the members of the City Council of the City of Providence now record their tribute to the achievements of this outstanding citizen, expressing wholehearted sorrow in this tragic loss; directing the City Clerk to transmit to the widow and family of the late Dr. Samuel Tomlinson Arnold a duly certified copy of this resolution.
