MAYNARD & NOYES' WRITING INK.

The Manufacture of this Ink was commenced in 1816,

And the quality has now been tested by the public for more than forty years. During this time it has been constantly increasing in public favor and patronage, and is now the leading article in the country. Those who may be ignorant of its superiority and reputation, are invited to read the following testimonials, and to make trial of it themselves. When the best judges, after using it more than twenty-five years, express themselves in one manner concerning its superior excellence, it is quite evident that no one need be troubled with bad ink.

Bowdoin School, Boston, Jan. 7, 1857.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: I have used your Ink in the Writing Department of this School the past thirty years, and take pleasure in renewing my testimonial of its superior quality. It flows freely from the pen, its color is brilliant and permanent, and it combines all the necessary and desirable qualities of good ink.

JAS. ROBINSON, Writing Master.

Boston, January 10, 1848.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: Gentlemen,—It is now, I believe, more than twenty years since the School Committee passed an order for using your Black Writing Ink in the City Schools. I have used it during that period, and deem it a first-rate article, and cheerfully recommend it to others. It flows freely from the pen, and increases in blackness after being committed to Paper, and the color is durable. I know of no Ink equal to yours, and I have tried many kinds, both English and American.

P. MACKINTOSH, Jr.,
Principal of Writing Dep. Hancock School.

Office of Merchants Ins. Co. Boston, Jan. 2, 1858.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES, Gentlemen,—I have used your Writing Ink generally for the last twenty-five years. In 1847 I renewed my certificate of its excellence, and having continued its use ever since to my entire satisfaction, my opinion is confirmed in its superiority. It flows freely from the pen, and is, in all respects, the best Ink I have ever used.

GEORGE HOMER, Secretary.

Registry of Deeds, Boston.

Messrs. MAYNARD & NOYES: I have made use of your Writing Ink for the Recording of Deeds, etc. the past twenty-five years, and take pleasure in renewing my testimonial of its superiority. From the appearance of the records in my office I consider it particularly adapted for all purposes where permanency of color is requisite or desirable, as my oldest records prove it to be unalterably black.

H. ALLINE, Register of Deeds.

COPYING INK.

This Ink gives a copy as distinct and perfect as the original and combines all the properties of our Writing Ink. This quality particularly adapts it to Counting House use, as it answers all the purposes for which a writing liquid is wanted. Also,

BLUE, RED AND CARMINE INKS.

SOAPS, CHEMICALS, & TANNING
IN A NEW AND IMPROVED MANNER.

T. P. MERRIAM'S
CHEMICAL OLIVE SOAP.

This Soap has received the FIRST PREMIUMS from all the Fairs in the Union, as the best and cheapest FAMILY SOAP ever manufactured. It is warranted to wash in all kinds of water, and will make salt and hard water soft—and one pound of this soap will do more washing than three pounds of any other soap now in the market.

N. B. One pound of MERRIAM'S CHEMICAL OLIVE SOAP will do all the washing of six in a family, for six weeks, and with half the amount of labor, of any other soap in the market. Manufactured only by

T. P. MERRIAM,
THE SOLE INVENTOR AND PROPRIETOR,

Corner of Smith and Charles-streets, Providence, R. I.

N. B. None can be genuine without my name stamped on every bar, and written in my own hand-writing on every label on the box.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

Beware of the spurious articles now in the market, under the name of Improved Chemical Olive Soap, as they are inferior articles, and the vendors of these spurious and counterfeited Soaps, in this city and other places, have had the mean audacity to steal the name of my Soap, [CHEMICAL OLIVE, which is Copyrighted,] and also copying my Labels, in order to deceive the Public, and to palm off their spurious articles; and others have had the meanness to advertise that they knew how to make the CHEMICAL OLIVE SOAP. All such statements are false, as no person or persons, except myself, that knows the first thing about making the Chemical Olive Soap, and I hereby forbid any person or persons from using, or branding, or cause to be used, in any way, the words CHEMICAL OLIVE SOAP, on Boxes, Bills, or Soap, as all that have used the words Chemical Olive Soap, or shall hereafter use them, will be prosecuted to the utmost extent of the law, as it regards my Copyright, both the vendors and those that sell the spurious article.

NOTICE TO FARMERS AND GARDENERS OF ENGLAND.

Those that wish to improve their lands, and produce large crops, will do well to use T. P. MERRIAM'S CHEMICAL FERTILIZER or VEGETABLE MANURE.

From the most thorough trials and experiments, made with this article, in connection with all other kinds of Manures, and articles offered to the public as a fertilizer, for the last eight years, by MARTIN SMITH, Esq., of Scituate, and many other good farmers, it has proved to be at least 25 per cent. cheaper than any other article offered as a manure, for Fruit trees, Grape-vines, and garden crops of all kinds, Flowers and house plants, etc., etc. It will be found an invaluable and lasting fertilizer.

Manufactured only by T. P. MERRIAM.
N. B. Mr. Merriam is also manufacturing a number of different kinds of Soaps and other articles, viz.:

MERRIAM'S CHEMICAL ERASIVE SOAP,

Warranted to be a superior article,

MERRIAM'S AMERICAN CASTILE SOAP,

Warranted equal to any imported.

Merriam's CHEMICAL P. SCOURING OIL SOAP,

A superior article for woolen and silk, and all other manufactures that may want a powerful scouring Soap, it is highly approved of by those who have used it for the last six years.

Merriam's Chemical Brown Winsor Shaving and Toilet Soap, Which, from its emollient and healing qualities, is admirably adapted for the use of those whose faces are tender, and whose hands are liable to chaps.

MERRIAM'S CHEMICAL STARCH GLAZING,
A superior article for giving a beautiful gloss to Linens, Cambrics, Muslins, Collars, Shirt Bosoms, etc., etc.

MERRIAM'S WHITE SODA SOAP,
Also Felling Soap, of different qualities.

MERRIAM'S MARINE SALT WATER SOAP,
A superior article for the Navy and Ship use.

MERRIAM'S HOUSE AND CARRIAGE WOOL MATS,
Of different colors, warranted equal to any imported Mats.

Merriam's Chemical Medicated Wool Mattresses, Medicated Wood Skins, and Bosom Pieces.

These Mattresses, Skins, etc., have been used for more than 10 years, and have proved to be the most healthy article ever used, in cases of Fevers, Consumption, Night Sweats, Inflammation of the Lungs, and all Rheumatic Affections. Also a large number of other articles, which the public can see by calling at the Works, corner of Smith and Charles streets.

WHEELER & WILSON'S MEDAL
FAMILY SEWING MACHINES,

WHICH OBTAINED THE

HIGHEST AND ONLY MEDAL,

For FAMILY Sewing Machines, at the late Fair held at Faneuil Hall,
October, 1856.

These improved Machines are rapidly coming into general favor, and are acknowledged to be the ONLY machines adapted to FAMILY USE.

The unanimous favor which has attended the introduction of Wheeler & Wilson's FAMILY SEWING MACHINE, is sufficient evidence of its excellence. It is needless now to say that this useful instrument is becoming a domestic institution; the fact is recognized by its successful use in thousands of families, in every rank of life. To those who have hitherto refrained from availing themselves of its advantages, it may not be amiss to say that its utility is not a problem to be solved, but a success already realized. The highest testimony is constantly offered, confirming this verdict, which has given this instrument so wide and enviable a reputation. These machines are sold and exhibited at KNIGHT STREET.—A correspondent offers the following in correction of the article in our last, respecting this street.

Knigh street was so named in honor of two worthy residents of the vicinity. Ebenezer Knigh was born at Marblehead, Mass. in 1691, opened the first merchant's store on Christian hill in 1732, and died in 1775. Robert Knigh was born in Cranston, I believe, about 1782 or 1783, has been a highly respected citizen of that part of our city, more than half a century; and is now alive and vigorous; having borne many offices of trust and honor at the gift of his neighbors and fellow-citizens.

Ebenezer Knigh had three daughters, but no son. The line of the oldest daughter, Mrs. Dexter, became extinct at the death of her grandchildren, the late E. K. Dexter, and his sister, Mrs. Rossiter, who both died childless.

Robert, and all the other Knights, here, are descended from Richard, an eminent Puritan, who first settled in Portsmouth, or Newport, and was Grand or General Sergeant of the Colony for many years. R.

ORIGIN OF FAMILY NAMES.

As appropriate to our work, we annex to the present issue of the DIRECTORY an extract from a work recently published in New York, entitled, "An Etymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Names. By William Arthur." This work, which is partly a compilation, contains a great variety of information interesting to the antiquarian, and to all who would be better informed on the subject of which it treats.

AN ESSAY

ON

FAMILY NAMES.

NAMES commenced in Eden. The Creator bestowed on the first man the name of Adam, denoting his origin from the earth. Eve gave to her first born the name of Cain, implying acquisition, a standing testimony of her faith in the first promise made to man in Eden.

The signification of the Hebrew names recorded in the 5th chapter of Genesis, when arranged in order, present an epitome of the ruin and recovery of man through a Redeemer.

ADAM,	i. e.,	"Man in the image of God;"
SETH,		"Substituted by;"
ENOS,		"Frail man;"
CANAAN,		"Lamenting;"
MAHALALEEL,		"The blessed God;"
JARED,		"Shall come down;"
ENOCH,		"Teaching;"
METHUSELAH,		"His death shall send;"
LAMECH,		"To the humble;"
NOAH,		"Rest or consolation."

These names, in the order in which they are recorded, read thus "To man, once made in the image of God, now substituted by man frail and full of sorrow, the blessed God himself shall come down to the earth teaching, and his death shall send to the humble, consolation."

The son of Abraham and Sarah, by divine direction was to bear the name of Isaac, signifying laughter, in allusion to the circumstances recorded of the father of the faithful in the 17th chapter of Genesis. In like manner Jacob received the name Yaakob, that is, he shall "hold by the heel" or supplant, a prediction which was fulfilled when he supplanted his brother Esau in the matter of his birthright.

The ancient Hebrews retained the greatest simplicity in the use of names, and generally a single name distinguished the individual. Where it was necessary, the name of the father was added, and sometimes that of the mother, if she happened to be more celebrated.

Names were first given for the distinction of persons, and each individual had, at the beginning, but one proper or given name, as Joseph among the Jews, Amasis among the Egyptians, Arbaces among the Medians, among the Greeks Ulysses, among the Romans Romulus, the Germans Ariobistus, the British Caradoc, the Saxons Edric, etc.

The Jews named their children the eighth day after the nativity, when the rite of circumcision was performed. The Greeks gave the name on the tenth day, and an entertainment was given by the parents to their friends, and sacrifices offered to the gods.

The Romans gave names to their female children on the eighth day, and to the males on the ninth, which they called Dies lustricus, the day of purification, on which day they solemnized a feast called Nominalia.

The name given was generally indicative of some particular circumstance attending the birth or infancy, some quality of body or mind, or was expressive of the good wishes or fond hopes of the parent. Objects in nature, the most admired and beautiful, were selected by them to designate their offspring. The sun, the moon and stars, the clouds, the beasts of the field, the trees and the flowers that adorn the face of nature, were all made subservient to this end.

Pythagoras taught that the minds, actions and success of men would be according to their genius and name, and Plato advises men to be careful in giving fair and happy names.

Such hopeful names as Victor, conqueror, Felix, happy, and Fortunatus, lucky, were called by Cicero, "bona nomina," good names, and by Tacitus, "fausta nomina," prosperous names.

"Such names among the Romans were considered so happy and fortunate, that in the time of Galienus, Regilianus who commanded the derivation of his name. When it was demanded during a banquet, what was the origin of Regilianus, one answered, 'a Regno,' to reign, to be a king; another began to decline 'Rez, (a king) Regis, Regilianus,' when the soldiers began to exclaim 'Ergo potest regere, Deus tibi regis nomen imposuit, and so invested him with the imperial robes.'"

Lewis the Eighth, king of France, sent two of his ambassadors to Alphonso, king of Spain, to solicit one of his daughters in marriage. When the young ladies, whose names were Urraca and Blanche, were presented to the ambassadors, they made choice o

* Camden.

Blanche, though far less beautiful than her sister, assigning as a reason that her name would be better received in France, as Blanche signified fair and beautiful.

So the proverb, "Bonum nomen bonum omen"—A good name is a good omen.

Names, epithets and soubriquets were often bestowed by others than the parents, at a more advanced age, expressive of character or exploits, of personal beauty, deformity or blemish—such as among the Greeks Telemachos (Telemachus) able to sustain the war; Phillipos (Philip) a lover of horses; Alexandros (Alexander) a benefactor of men, and Grupos (eagle-nose.) Among the Romans, Victor, a conqueror; Strabo, squint-eyed; Varus, bow-legged. Among the Britons, Cadwallader, the leader of the war. Among the Gaels or Celts, Galgach, or Galgachus, the fierce fighter of battles; Curaidh, a hero.

Among the Britons and Gaels, names were taken from those animals which excelled in swiftness, fierceness, boldness, strength or courage, as the Lion, the Bear, the Wolf, the Mastiff. The following are examples: Llew, Llewelyn, Arthur, Kee, etc.

Others from valor, skill in war, and various mental qualities, as Caw, Cadwallon, Cadwallader, Hardd; Donald, Duncan, Fergus, Colom, Coel, Caractacus.

Others from color. Lloyd, Brych, Winne, Goch, Gorm, Gwyrmain, Glass, Dhu or Du, Da or Day, Melyn, Bane, Cane, Roe, &c.

The Romans introduced such names as Julius, Claudius, Felix, Constantine, Augustus, Augustine, etc. The Saxons the names of Charles, Edward, Edmund, Baldwin, Oswald, etc. The Danes such as Hengist, Horsa, Sweyne, Canute; and the Normans chose such as Robert, William, Richard, Henry, etc.

Before the general introduction of surnames, the Britons and Celts for the sake of distinction, used explanatory names, descriptive of personal peculiarities, individual pursuits, mental or bodily qualities, accidental circumstances, or the performance of certain actions. These names have been called Soubriquets, Cognomens, and Nicknames—such as Howel Du, or Howel the good; Howel y Pedolau, or Howel of the horse-shoes, so called from being able to straighten them or bend them by manual strength; Cadrod Hardd, or the beautiful; Ririd Vlaidd, or Ririd the Wolf; Cunedda Wledig, or the Patriotic; Howel y Fwyall, or the Battle-axe; Caswallon Llaw hir, or the long hand; Llywarch Hen, or the aged; Donald Gorm or Blue Donald; Matcom Canmore, great head.

The Gaels of Ireland had also the same kind of cognomens or descriptive names, as Niall Roe, or Niall the Red; Niall More, Niall the Great; Con Bachach, Con the Lame; Henry Aerey, Henry the Contentious; Shane au Dimais, John the Proud; Shane Buidhe, or John with the yellow hair; Shane Gearr, John Short; Seumas Reagh, James the Swarthy; O'Connor Don, the Brown-haired O'Connor.

Sir Henry Piers, in the year 1682, in a letter to Anthony, Lord Bishop of Meath, gave the following account of Irish soubriquets and cognomens:

"They take much liberty, and seem to do it with delight, in giving of nicknames; and if a man have any imperfection or evil habit, he shall be sure to hear of it in the nickname. Thus, if he be blind, lame, squint-eyed, gray-eyed, be a stammerer in speech, be left-handed, to be sure he shall have one of these added to his name; so also from his color of hair, as black, red, yellow, brown, etc.; and from his age, as young, old; or from what he addicts himself to, or much delights in, as in draining, building, fencing, or the like; so that no man whatever can escape a nickname who lives among them, or converseth with them; and sometimes, so libidinous are they in this kind of raillery, they will give nicknames per antiphrasim, or contrariety of speech. Thus a man of excellent parts, and beloved of all men, shall be called Grana, that is, naughty, or fit to be complained of. If a man have a beautiful countenance, or lovely eyes, they will call him Cueegh, that is, squint-eyed; if a great house-keeper, he shall be called Ackerisagh, that is, greedy.*

The same custom prevailed in England, and other countries, in reference to descriptive names, many of which in after times became surnames; as William the Lion; Henry the Fowler; Edmund Ironside; Harold Harefoot; William Rufus (the Red); Henry Beauclerk (fine Scholar); Richard Cœur de Lion (the Lion-hearted); John Lackland; Edward Longshanks; David Crookshanks. Some of this class indicate mental qualities, as Good, Goodman, Goodenough, Best, Sage, Wise. Others are derived from personal appearance or bodily peculiarities, as Big, Meikle, Little, Lightbody, Lightfoot, Armstrong, Greathead.

Among these are included names denoting complexion, color of hair and dress, as Black, Blond, Brown, Gray, Grissel, Red, Rufus, Rous, Russel, Roth (Germ. red) Rothman, Ruddiman, Blacket or Blackhead, Whitelock, and Whitehead.

Among names of costume are found Capet, Curthose (short hose) Robe, Mantle, etc.

The custom of giving nicknames to individuals bearing hereditary surnames has not yet been discontinued; and in many localities the peasantry are better known by soubriquets than by their proper surnames. This is especially the case where several families bear the same surnames.

Mark Antony Lower, M. A., in his interesting and amusing Essay on Family Nomenclature, relates the following story, as given by a correspondent of Knight's Quarterly Magazine: "I know an apothecary in the collieries, who, as a matter of decorum, always entered the real name of his patients in his books; that is, when he could ascertain them. But they stood there for ornament; for use, he found it necessary to append the soubriquet, which he did with true medical formality, as for instance, 'Thomas Williams, vulgo dict. (vulgarly called) 'Old Puff'."

A story is told of an attorney's clerk, who was professionally employed to serve a process on one of these oddly-named persons, whose real name was entered in the instrument with legal accuracy. The clerk, after a great deal of inquiry as to the whereabouts of the party, was about to abandon the search as hopeless, when a young woman, who had witnessed his labors, kindly volunteered to assist him.

"Oy say, Bullyed," cried she to the first person they met, "does thee know a mon neamed Adam Green?" The bull-head was shaken in token of ignorance.

"Lay-a-bed, dost thou?"

Lie-a-bed's opportunities of making acquaintances had been rather limited, and she could not resolve the difficulty.

Stumpy, (a man with a wooden leg,) Cowskin, Spindleshanks, Cockeye and Pigtail were severally invoked, but in vain; and the querist fell into a brown study, in which she remained for some time. At length, however, her eyes suddenly brightened, and slapping one of her companions on the shoulder, she exclaimed triumphantly, "Dash my wig! whoy he means moy feyther!" and then turning to the gentleman added, "Ye should'n ax'd for Ole (old) Blackbird."

It is stated that "few of the miners of Staffordshire bear the names of their fathers; and an instance is given of a certain pig-dealer in the county whose father's name was Johnson, but the people called him Pigman, and Pigman he calls himself. This name may be now seen over the door of a public house which this man keeps in Staffordshire."*

In this connection Mr. Lower adds; "There were lately living in the small town of Folkestone, Co. Kent, (Eng.) fifteen persons whose hereditary name was HALL, but who, gratia distinctionis, bore the elegant designations of

DOGGY HALL,	FEATHERTOE,
BUMPER,	BUBBLES,
PIERCE-EYE,	FAGGOTS,
CULA,	JIGGERY,
PUMBLE-FOOT,	COLDFLIP,
SILVER-EYE,	LUMPY,
SUTTY,	THICK-LIPS
OLD HARE,

A SURNAME is an additional name added to the Proper or given name, for the sake of distinction, and so called because originally written over the other name, instead of after it, from the French Surnom, or the Latin "Super nomen," signifying above the name.

Surnames have originated in various ways. Some are derived from the names of places; others from offices and professions; from personal peculiarities; from the Christian or proper name of the father; from the performance of certain actions; from objects in the animal, mineral, and vegetable world, and from accidental circumstances of every varied character.

The introduction of surnames arose from the necessity of the case. Soon after the diffusion of Christianity among the nations of Europe, their Pagan names were generally laid aside, and the people began to take Hebrew names, such as Moses, Aaron, Malachi, David, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Peter, James. As the families increased, many persons were found bearing the same name. The Johns, and the Jamases, and the Peters became numerous.

For a long time, soubriquets and nicknames, like those of which we have spoken, and patronymics, were appended to the name to distinguish the individual, which were in some cases retained, and became surnames, but by degrees this means of remedying the confusion became insufficient, and to identify the individual more distinctly, surnames were found necessary.

* Mark Antony Lower, M. A., on English Surnames.

It is impossible to state at what precise period names became stationary, or began to descend hereditarily. According to Camden, surnames began to be taken up in France about the year 1000, and in England about the time of the Conquest, (1066) or a very little before, under King Edward the Confessor.

He says, "And to this time doe the Scottishmen referre the antiquitie of their surnames, although Buchanan supposeth that they were not in use in Scotland many yeares after.

"But in England, certaine it is, that as the better sort, euen from the Conquest, by little and little, took surnames, so they were not settled among the common people fully vntil about the time of King Edward the Second, but still varied according to the father's name, as Richardson, if his father were Richard; Hodgson, if his father were Roger, or in some other respect, and from thenceforth began to be established, (some say by statute) in their posteritie.

"This will seem strange to some Englishmen and Scottishmen, which, like the Arcadians, think their surnames as ancient as the moone, or, at the least, to reach many an age beyond the Conquest. But they which thinke it most strange, (I speake vnder correction) I doubt they will hardly finde any surname which descended to posteritie before that time; neither have they seene (I fear) any deed or donation before the Conquest, but subsigned wth crosses and single names, without surnames, in this manner, in England—
* Egro Eadredus confirmauit; * Ego Edmundus corroborauit;
* Ego Sigarius conclusi: * Ego Olfstanus consolidauit, etc.

"Likewise for Scotland, in an old booke of Duresme in the Charter, whereby Edgare, sonne of King Malcolme, gave lands neare Coldingham to that church, in the yeare 1097, the Scottish noblemen, witnesses thereunto, had no other surnames but the Christian names of their fathers, for thus they signed—*S. * Gulfi filii Meniani*. *S. * Culuertii filii Doncani*, etc.

On the authority of Dr. Keating* and his cotemporary, Gratianus Lucius, we learn that surnames first became hereditary in Ireland, in the reign of Brian Boru, who was killed in the battle of Clontarf, in the year 1014, in which battle the Danes were defeated. Previous to this time, individuals were identified by Tribe names, after the Patriarchal manner. These Tribe names were formed from those of the progenitors by prefixing the following words, signifying race, progeny, descendants, etc.: Corca, Cineal, Clan, Muintur, Siol, Siocht, Dal, Tealuch, Ua, Ui or O, which signifies grandson or descendant.

It is asserted on the authority of the ancient Irish manuscripts, that King Brian ordained that a certain surname should be imposed on every tribe or clan, in order that it might be more and more easily known from what stock each family was descended; and that these names should become hereditary and fixed forever. In the formation of these names, care was taken that they should not be arbitrarily assumed. The several families were required to adopt the names of their fathers or grandfathers, and those ancestors were generally selected who were celebrated for their virtues or renowned for their valor.

*See Irish Penny Journal, 1841, p. 365, "Origin and Meanings of Irish Family Names, by John O. Donovan.

Many of the surnames now common in Ireland were derived from the chiefs of the several clans who fought against the Danes at the battle of Clontarf, under King Brian, and others were assumed from ancestors who flourished subsequently to the reign of that monarch. Soon after the invasion of Ireland by Henry the Second, in the year 1172, the Anglo-Norman and Welch families who had obtained large grants of land in that kingdom, in reward for their military services in subduing the inhabitants, from intermarriages and other causes, began by degrees to adopt the language and manners of the people, and in process of time became "Hibernis ipsis Hiberniores," more Irish than the Irish themselves. They not only spoke the Irish language, but conformed to the Irish custom of surnames, by placing "Mac," which signifies "son," before the Christian name of their father. This was particularly the case in regard to those English and Welch families who settled in the province of Connaught. Thus, the descendants of William De Burgos were called MacWilliam, that is, the son of William, and the De Exeters assumed the name of MacJordan, from Jordan De Exeter, who derived his name from Exeter, a town in Devonshire, England.

In the year 1465, in the reign of Edward the Fourth, it was enacted by statute, that every Irishman dwelling within the English pale, then comprising the counties of Dublin, Meath, Lowell and Kildare, in Ireland, should take an English surname.

"At the request of the Commons, it is ordeyned and established by authority of said Parliament, that every Irishman that dwells betwixt or among Englishmen, in the county Dublin, Myeth, Uricell, and Kildare, shall goe like to one Englishman in apparel, and shaving off his beard above the mouth, and shall be within one year sworn the liege man of the king, in the hands of the lieutenant, or deputy, or such as he will assigne to receive this oath for the multitude that is to be sworne, and shall take to him an English surname of one towne, as Sutton, Chester, Trym, Skyrne, Corke, Kinsale; or colour, as White, Black, Brown; or art or science, as Smith, or Carpenter; or office, as Cook, Butler; and that he and his issue shall use this name under payne of forfeyting of his goods yearly till the premises be done, to be levied two times by the yeare to the king's warres, according to the discretion of the lieutenant of the king or his deputy."—5 Edward IV., cap. 3.

In obedience to this law, Harris, in his additions to Ware, remarks that the Shanacks took the name of Fox, the McGabhans or McGowans, that of Smith, and the Geals the name of White. In consequence of this statute of Edward, many Irish families were induced to translate or change their names into English.

The ancient prefixes of Mac and O are still retained in Irish names, the former denoting son, and the latter grandson, or descendant. To distinguish the individual the father's name was used, and sometimes that of the grandfather, after the manner of the Scripture. Thus, should Donnel have a son, he would be called MacDonnel, that is, the son of Donnel, and his grandson would be named O'Donnel; O'Neal, the grandson of Neal, or the descendant of Neal, MacNeal the son of Neal.

The Welsh, in like manner, prefixed Ap, Mab, Ab, or Vap to the given or first name, to denote son, as David Ap Howell, David the son of Howell; Evan Ap Rhys, Evan the son of Rees; Richard Ap Evan, Richard the son of Evan; John Ap Hugh, John the son of Hugh. These names are now abbreviated into Powell, Price, Bevan and Pugh.

The name of the ancestor was appended in this manner for half a dozen generations back, and it is no uncommon occurrence to find in their old records a name like this:

Lower tells of a church at Llangollen, Wales, dedicated to "St. Colleen-ap-Gwynnawg ap-Clyndawg-ap-Cowrda-ap-Caradoc-Freichfras-ap-Llyn-Merim-ap-Einion-Yrth-ap-Cunedda-Wledig—a name that casts that of the Dutchman, "Inkerwankoksdorspunkkinkadrachdern" into the shade.

Surnames were not adopted in Wales until long after they were in England and Scotland. The old manner was retained as far down as the time of Henry the Eighth. It is related in Camden, "That of late yeares, in the time of King Henry the Eight, an ancient worshipful gentlemen of Wales being called to the pannel of Jurie by the name of 'Thomas-ap-William-ap-Thomas-ap-Richard-ap-Moel-ap-Euen-Vaghan,' was advised by the judge to leave that old manner; whereupon he after called himself Moston, according to the name of his principal house, and left that surname to his posteritie."

About this time, the heads of the Welsh families either took the names of their immediate ancestors as surnames, or adopted names from their estates, after the English manner.

The old Normans prefixed Fitz, a son, the same as Fils in French, and Filius in Latin, to the name of the father, as a patronymic, as Fitz William, the son of William, the same as Williamson.

In Ireland, after the invasion of Strongbow, in the time of Henry the Second, names commencing with Fitz frequently occur, as Fitzhugh, Fitzgerald, Fitzgibbon, Fitzsimmons, Fitzpatrick, which are of Anglo-Norman origin. Camden informs us that in the reign of Henry the First, the daughter and heir of Fitzhamon, an English nobleman of wealth, refused the hand of Robert, the natural son of the king, saying,

"It were to me a great shame,
To have a lord withouten his twa name."

Whereupon, the king gave him the name of Fitz Roy, "the son of the king." Children born out of lawful wedlock not unfrequently have had Fitz prefixed to the name of their mother or reputed father. The children of his Royal Highness, William, Duke of Clarence, and Mrs. Jordan, took the surname of Fitz-clarence.

Witz, a termination common in Russian names, denotes son, and is somewhat analogous to the Norman Fitz, as Peter Paulowitz, Peter the son of Paul.

Sky is used in a similar manner by the Poles, as James Petrowsky, James the son of Peter.

Isch, Teutonic, denoting progeny—which Wachter derives from the British engi, to produce, bring forth—was affixed by the Anglo Saxons to the father's name as a surname for the son, as Cuthing the son of Cuth, Ælfreding the son of Alfred, Whiting the fair offspring, Browning the dark offspring. Gin, in Gaelic, signifies to beget; An, Gaelic, is a termination of nouns implying the diminutive of that to which it is annexed, and an, in the Welsh, as an affix, conveys also the idea of littleness. The termination son was also added to the father's name, and instead of saying John the son of William, the name was written John Williamson; Peter Johnson in place of Peter the son of John. While the English affixed son to the baptismal name of the father, the Welsh merely appended "s," as John Matthews, that is, John the son of Matthew; David Jones (Johns) David the son of John; John Hughes, John the son of Hugh.

Kin, kind, ling, let, et, ot, cic, cock, are diminutives.

From the German kind, a child, is formed the diminutive termination kin, as Watkin the son of Wat or Walter; Wilkin the son of Will or William. Kin or kind has the same signification as the Greek vivoc and the Latin genus, race, offspring, children.

Ling at the end of a word conveys the idea of something young or little, as darling dearling, firstling, gosling, and denotes also the situation, state or condition of the subject to which it is applied, as hireling, worldling.

Lit, Anglo-Saxon lyt, is sometimes used for little, as hamlet, ringlet, streamlet, Bartlett; i. e., little Bart or Bartholomew. The terminations et and ot are used in the same sense, Willett, Willmot, the son of William or little William.

The termination cic or cock is also a diminutive, and signifies little, or son, as Hiccic, Hiccock, the son of Hig or Hugh; Wilcock, the son of William; Babcock, the son of Bob or Robert.

LOCAL NAMES form the largest class of our surnames. First among them are those which are national, expressing the country whence the person first bearing the name came; as English, Scott, Irish, French.

GERMAN or GORMAN, BRETT and BRITAIN.

FLEMING, from Flanders.

CORNISH and CORNWALLIS, from Cornwall.

GERMAINE, ALMAN and D'ALMAINE (D'Allemagne) from Germany.

CHAMPAGNE and CHAMPNEYS, from Champagne, France.

GASCOYNE and GASKIN, from Gascony.

ROMAYNE, from Rome.

WESTPHAL, from Westphalia.

HANWAY, from Hainault.

JANEWAY, a Genoese—etc., etc.

These names had commonly Le (the) prefixed to them in old records.

The practice of taking names from patrimonial estates, or from the place of residence or birth, was prevalent in Normandy and the contiguous parts of France in the latter part of the tenth century, and was generally adopted in England and Scotland after the Conquest.

Names were taken from almost every county, city, town, parish, village and hamlet, and from manors, farms and single houses, such as Cheshire, Kent, Ross, Hastings, Cunningham, Huntingdon, Preston, Hull, Compton, Goring, etc., so that local names of this class number many thousands.

Where the name was taken from the patrimonial estate, it was assumed by the individual himself; when from the place of residence or birth, it was probably bestowed by others. A person who had removed from his native place and settled in another, received from the inhabitants of the town or village in which he took up his abode the name of his native place as a surname, which descended to his children.

These names were first given with the prefix "of," shortened frequently to "O" or "a," signifying from, (or it may be sometimes an abbreviation of "at,") as John O'Huntingdon, Adam a Kirby. These prefixes were after a time dropped, and Adam a Kirby became Adam Kirby, and John O'Kent, John Kent.

Besides these, we have a great number of local surnames which are general and descriptive of the nature or situation of the residence of the persons upon whom they were bestowed, as Hill, Wood, Dale, Parke, etc. The prefix At or Atte was generally used before these names, as John at Hill, John at the hill, James at Well, Will at Gate, Tom at Wood, now Atwell, Adgate and Atwood. Atte was varied to Atten when the following name began with a vowel, as Peter Atten Ash, now Nush, Richard Atten Oak, now Noakes or Nokes.

Sometimes "a" was used instead of at, as Thomas a Becket, Jack a Deane. By and under were used as prefixes, as James Byfield, Tom Under-hill.

In this way men took their names from rivers and trees, from residing at or near them, as Beck, Gill, Eden, Trent, Grant and Shannon; Beach, Vine, Ashe, Bush and Thorn.

Local names prefixed with De (from) and terminating in ville, originated in Normandy, and were introduced into England at the time of the Conquest. These names were taken from the districts, towns or hamlets of which they were possessed, or in which they resided previously to their following the fortunes of William the Conqueror, such as De Mandeville, De Neville, De Montague, De Warren, De Beaumont, etc. The prefix De was generally dropped about the reign of Henry the Sixth. All these names introduced into England at the time of the Conquest, from Normandy and the contiguous parts of France may easily be distinguished by the prefixes De, Du, Des, De, La, St., and the suffixes Beou, Mont, Font, Funt, Ers, Age, Ard, Aux, Bois, Eux, Et, Val, Court, Vaur, Lay, Fort, Ot, Champ, and Ville, the component parts of names of places in Normandy, the signification of most of which we give in the derivation of these names into the composition of which they enter.

The greater part of English local surnames are composed of the following words or terminations: Ford, Ham, Ley, Ey, Ney, Ton, Tun, Ing, Hurst, Wick, Stow, Sted, Caster, Combe, Cote, Thorpe, Worth, Burg, Beck and Gill. There is an ancient proverb—

"In Ford, in Ham, in Leg and Ton,
The most of English surnames run."

To which Lower has added—

"Ing, Hurst, and Wood, Wick, Sted and Field
Full many English surnames yield,
With Thorpe and Bourne. Cote, Caster, Oke,
Comb, Bury, Don, and Stowe, and Stoke,
With Ey, and Port, Shaw, Worth, and Wade,
Hill, Gate, Well, Stone, are many made;
Cliff, Marsh, and Mouth, and Down, and Sand,
And Beck, and Sea, with numbers stand."

FORD, Welsh, Fford, signifies a way, a road. Ford, Saxon, from the verb Faran, to go or pass, denotes a shallow place in a river, where it may be passed on foot, whence Bradford, Crawford, Stanford, etc.

HAM, Saxon, a house, a home, a dwelling-place; German, heim, a home. It is used in the names of places, as Waltham, Durham, Buckingham, etc. Ham, in some localities in England, indicates a rich, level pasture; a plot of land near water; a triangular field.

LEY, LECH, and LEIGH, a pasture, field, commons, uncultivated land. Lle, Welsh, a place, as Stanley, Burkeley, Raleigh, etc.

EY, NEY, EA, are applied to places contiguous to the water; a wet or watery place, as Chartsey, Lindsey, Hsley.

TUN and TUNE, Saxon, and TUIN, Dutch, signify an inclosure; DUN and DIN, Gaelic and Welsh, a hill, a fortified place; now a town, dun, tune, town. If the residence of the Briton was on a plain, it was called Llan, from lagen or logan, an inclosed plain, or a low-lying place; if on an eminence, it was called Dun. Dun, in the Gaelic, signifies a heap; a hill, mount; a fortified house or hill, fortress, castle, or tower.

The surnames terminating in den, din, ton, and tun, are numerous, as Houghton, Leighton, Chittindin, Huntington.

ING is a meadow; low flat lands near a river, lake, or wash of the sea, as Lansing, Washington.

HURST, a wood, a grove; a word found in many names of places, as Bathurst, Hayhurst, Crowhurst, Reddenhurst.

WICK, in old Saxon, is a village, castle, or fort; the same as vicus in Latin; a bay, a port or harbor, whence Wickware, Wickliff, Warwick, Sedgwick.

STOW, a fixed place or mansion, whence Barstow, Bristow, Raystow.

STED, in the Danish, signifies a place inclosed, an inclosure; a fixed residence; whence Halsted, Olmsted, Husted, Stedham, Grinstead.

CHESTER, Saxon, a camp, a city; Latin, castrum, whence Rochester, Winchester, Chichester, Exeter.

COMBE, Anglo-Saxon, a valley; Welsh, cwm, a vale, from which we have Balcombe, Bascome, Slocum.

COT, COTE, Saxon, a cottage; COTE, French, the sea-coast, a hill, hillock; down, the side. Several names are composed of these words, as Cotesworth, Lippencot, Westcot.

THORPE, Anglo-Saxon, a village. Dutch, Dorp, from this comes Northrop, Northrup or Northorp, Winthorp or Winthrop.

Bleed Through

WORTH, a possession, farm; court, place; a fort, an island. Such names end in worth, as Bosworth, Farnsworth, Wordsworth.

BURG, BURY, a hill; Dutch, Berg, a mountain, a hill; now, a court, a castle, a town. From these words we have the names Kingsbury, Loundsbury, Waterbury, Salisbury, Rosenberg or Rosensbury.

TRE, TRET, Welsh, a town, Coventry, the town of the Convent; Trelawny, Tremayne.

The Britons of Cornwall derived many of their surnames from local objects, while most of the Welsh names are patronymics. The following couplet expresses the usual character of Cornish names:

"By Tre, Ros, Pol, Lan, Caer, and Pen,
You know the most of Cornish men."

These words signify town, heath, pool, church, castle and promontory.

By is a termination of Danish names of places, and denotes a dwelling, a village, or town, as Willoughby, Busby, Ormsby, Selby, Goadby.

OVER. The Anglo-Saxon over corresponds with the German ufer, and signifies a shore or bank, as Westover.

BECK, a brook, Anglo-Saxon, Becc, from which we have Beckford, Beckwith, Beckley, etc.

A majority of Dutch surnames are local, derived from places in Holland. VAN, Dutch, VON, German, signify of or from, and denote locality, as Van Antwerp, belonging to or coming from the city of Antwerp; Van Buren, from the town of Buren in Holland. Nearly all the Dutch local names have this prefix.

SURNAMES DERIVED FROM CHRISTIAN OR BAPTISMAL NAMES are probably next in number to the local surnames. For a long time, before and even after the introduction of stationary surnames, the name of the father was used by the child as a surname.

Camden says we have many surnames formed of such forenames as are now obsolete, and only occur in Domesday Book, and other ancient records, of which he gives a list.

I have already shown how the Normans prefixed Fitz to their father's name for a surname, to denote son; the Welsh Ap, and the ancient Irish, Mac.

The surnames formed from Christian or baptismal names are very numerous; as many as ten or fifteen are frequently formed from a single Christian name. Lower forms no less than twenty-nine from the name of William.

First we have the names terminating in son, which was added to the name of the father, as Williamson, Johnson, Thompson, Wilson, etc.

The Welsh merely appended "s" instead of son, as Edwards, Davis, Jones (Johns) Hughs.

Then we have those formed from nicknames, nursenames, and abbreviated names, as Watson, the son of Wat or Walter; Watts, the same; Simpson, Sinms; Dobson, the son of Dob or Robert; Dobbs, Hobson, Hobbs, etc. etc.

A great many are formed of these abbreviated or nursenames, with the addition of the diminutive terminations ette, kin, and cock or cox, all of which signify "little" or "child." From the termination ette we have such names as Willett, little Will, or the son of Will; Hallett, little Hal or Henry.

From kin or kins we have Wilkins, Tompkins, Simpkins, Atkins, Hawkins, Higgins, Debbin and Gilkin. From cock or cox, Wilcox, Simcox, Babcock, the son of Bab or Bartholomew; Alcock, the son of Hal or Henry, and Hickcox, the son of Hig or Hugh.

NAMES OF TRADES, OCCUPATIONS AND PURSUITS, are next in number, as Smith, Carpenter, Joiner, Taylor, Barker, Barber, Baker, Brewer, Sherman (a shearman, one who used to shear cloth) Naylor (nail-maker) Chapman, Mercer, Jenner (Joiner) Tucker, (a fuller) Monger (a merchant) etc., etc.

These names originally had the Norman prefix "Le" (the) as Le Spicer, Le Dispenser, Le Tailleur.

OFFICIAL NAMES, including civil and ecclesiastical dignities, viz., King, Prince, Duke, Lord, Earl, Knight, Pope, Bishop, Priest, Monk, Marshall, Bailey, Chamberlain, etc., etc.

Many of these titles, as King, Prince, etc., was imposed on individuals from mere caprice, as few of these kings or dukes ever held the distinguished rank their names indicate.

It is said that nearly nine hundred Kings are born annually in England and Wales.

We find the following in Lower's Essay, as taken from the "History of Huntingdon."

"TRUE COPY of a jury taken before Judge Doddridge, at the assizes holden at Huntingdon, A. D. 1619. (It is necessary to remark, that the judge had, at the preceding circuit, censured the sheriff for empanneling men not qualified by rank for serving on the Grand Jury, and the sheriff being a humorist, resolved to fit the judge with sounds at least.) On calling over the following names, and pausing emphatically at the end of the Christian, instead of the surname, his lordship began to think he had, indeed, a jury of quality:

Maximilian KING of Toseland,
Henry PRINCE of Godmanchester,
George DUKE of Somersham,
William MARQUIS of Stukeley,
Edmund EARL of Hartford,
Richard BARON of Bythorn,
Stephen POPE of Newton,
Stephen CARDINAL of Kimbolton,
Humphrey BISHOP of Buckden,
Robert LORD of Waresley,
Robert KNIGHT of Winwick,
William ABBOTT of Stukeley,
Robert BARON of St. Neots,
William DEAN of Old Weston,
John ARCHDEACON of Paxton,
Peter ESQUIRE of Easton,
Edward FRYER of Ellington,
Henry MONK of Stukeley,
George GENTLEMAN of Spaldwick,
George PRIEST of Graftham,
Richard DEACON of Catworth.

"The judge, it is said, was highly pleased with this practical joke, and commended the sheriff for his ingenuity. The descendants of some of these illustrious jurors still reside in the county, and bear the same names; in particular, a Maximilian King, who was informed, still presides over Toseland."

Personal characteristics have given origin to another class of surnames, descriptive of mental or bodily peculiarities. Among these are many names of color and complexion, as Black, Brown, Blond, White, Gray, Grissel (grayish) Rous (red) Dunn (brown); and from the color of the hair, Whitehead, Whitlock, Fairfax (fair-hair) Brunel, Roth (red) Swartz (black) Fairchild, Black, Blackman, etc.

Those which indicate the mental or moral qualities are such as Good, Goodman, Goodfellow, Giddy, Wise, Wiley, Meek, Merry, Moody, Bliss, Jay, Gay, Sage.

Those derived from bodily peculiarity and from feats of personal strength or courage, Strong, Mickle, Little, Long, Short, Strongfellow or Strengfellow, Hardy, Proudfit, Lightbody, Ironside, Armstrong, Crookshanks, Turnbull, and Camoys.

"Round was his face, and camuse was his nose."

CHAUCER.

We find such names bestowed among the Greeks and Romans. The Greeks had their Sophocles (wise,) Anathios (good,) and Strabo (squint-eyed,) and Paulus (little.) The Romans, their Pius, Prudentius, Longus; their Naso (bottle-nose,) Calvus (bald-pate,) Flaccus (loll-eared,) Varus (bow-legged,) Anous (crooked arm,) Crispus (curly-headed,) etc. As I have before remarked, the Britons, Gaels, and Celts bestowed many names descriptive of personal peculiarities, and mental and bodily qualities, as Cadrod Harrod, Cadrod the beautiful; Con Bachach, Con the lame; Shane Buidhe (Boyd,) John with the yellow hair; Seumas Reagh, James the swarthy; Vaughan, little; Gough, red; Gwynne, white, etc.

Some surnames are derived from animals, such especially as were noted for fierceness or courage, as the bear, the wolf, the lion, whence the names Byron, or bear; Wolf, French Loupc, German Guelph, the surname of the existing Royal Family of Great Britain; Wild-boar or Wilbur, Lovel or Lovel, from Lupulus, a little wolf; Bull, Brock (a badger,) Todd (a fox,) Hare, Hart, Leveret, Roe, Stag, etc., to which some add the name of Hog and Hogden, a sheltered swine pasture.

A writer in the Edinburgh Review, April, 1855, has remarked that Eber or Eafer (a boar,) is the root of the following names: Eber, Ever, Ebers, Everard, Everett, Everingham, Everington, Everly, and Everton.

Richard the Third was called the Boar or the Hog, "and so gave occasion to the rhyme that cost the maker his life:

"The Cat, the Rat, and Lovel the Dog, Rule all England under the Hog."

* Edinburg Review, April, 1855.—"The allusion to the names of Batcliff and Catsby is obvious. Lovel is said to have borne a dog as his arms.

The names of fishes have been taken as family names. From this source we have Pike, Burt, Chubb, Mullet, Bass, Fish, etc.

Birds also come in for a share in our surnames. We have Dove, Raven, Lark, Wren, Peacock, Finch, Sparrow, Swan, Culver, Gosling, Heron, Wild-goose or Wilgus, Jay, and many others.

The mineral and vegetable kingdoms have contributed their full quota of names. In this list, we find Garnet, Jewel, Gold, Silver, Salt, Steel, Iron, Flint, and Stone.

From flowers, plants, shrubs, and trees, we have Lilly, Rose, Ferne, Branch, Furze, Heath, Broome, Primrose, Pease, Peach, Oak, Cherry, Beach, Ash, Thorn, Alder, Pine, and Birch.

We find such names among the Romans—Taurus, a bull; Vitulus, a calf; Porcius, like a hog; Caprillus, like a goat; Leo, lion; Lupus, a wolf; and the names of Fabius, Lentulus, Cicero, and Piso, were given respectively for skill in cultivating beans, lentils, peas, and vetches.

Many names were taken from the signs over the doors of inns, or the shops of various tradesmen, where goods were manufactured and sold.

Camden informs us, "that he was told by them who said they spake of knowledge, that many names that seem unfitting for men, as of brutish beasts, etc. come from the very signs of the houses where they inhabited. That some in late time, dwelling at the sign of the Dolphin, Bull, White Horse, Racket, Peacocke, etc., were commonly called Thomas at the Dolphin, Will at the Bull, George at the White Horse, Robin at the Racket, which names, as many other of the like sort, with omitting at, became afterward hereditary to their children."

In olden times, in London, might be seen the sign of the Boar's Head, the Crosskeyes, the Gun, the Castle, the Crane, the Cardinal's Hat, the Angel, the Bell, the Swan, the Bowles, the Barrel, the Crosier, the Griffin, the Coney, the Jug, the Kettle, the Pots, the Pitcher, Sword, Shears, Scales, Tabor, Tub, etc.

In the cities and towns, every kind of beasts, birds and fishes, objects animate and inanimate, were taken by tradesmen as signs, to distinguish their shops from others, and to excite the attention of customers. From many of these, names were bestowed, and we can account in this way for many surnames which would otherwise seem strange and absurd.

Armorial ensigns and heraldic bearings have given surnames to families. Many of the old knights took their names from the figures and devices they bore on their shields.

The royal line of Plantagenet (Broome.) took their surname from the broom plant, Fulke, Earl of Anjou, the founder of the house, having worn a sprig of broom, as a symbol of humility, and adopted it as his badge after his pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Names were borrowed from armor and costume, as Fortescue, (strong-shield,) Strongbow, Harness, Beauharnois, Broadspare, Shakespeare, Shotbolt, Curthose, that is, short hose, Curtmantle, a name given to Henry the Second, from his wearing shorter mantles than were then in fashion; Freemantle, Coates, Capet.—

Bleed Through

"Hugh Capet, the founder of the royal line of France, in the tenth century, is said to have acquired that surname from a freak of which, in his boyhood, he was very fond, that of snatching off the caps of his play-fellows. De La Rocque, however, gives a different origin for this name, deriving it from 'le bon sens et esprit qui residoit a sa teste!'"

We have names taken from the seasons, the months, and the days of the week, holidays and festivals of the church, most of which probably originated from the period of birth, such as Summer, Spring, Winter, Fall, Monday, Friday, May, March, Morrow, Weekes, Day, Christmas, Paschal, Holiday, Noel (Christmas,) etc.

Many surnames have originated in soubriquets, epithets of contempt, and ridicule, and nicknames, imposed for personal peculiarities, habits, and qualities, or from incidents or accidents which happened to the original bearers. Such names are very numerous, and can be accounted for in no other way. They are such as Doolittle, Hearsay, Timeslow, Houseless, Tugwell, Steptoe, Goelightly, Bragg, Trollope, that is, slattern; Parnell, a woman of bad character; Lawless, Silliman, Bastard (William the Conqueror was not ashamed of the illegitimacy of his birth, as he often signed his name William the Bastard;) Crookshanks, Longshanks, Addlehead, and Leatherhead, Gubbins, that is, the refuse parts of a fish; Gallows, and Devil!

We can easily imagine how some ridiculous incident or foolish act or saying would confer a soubriquet or nickname upon a person by which he would be known and called through life, and which would even descend to his children, for we often see this in our day.

The following anecdote from Lower is an illustration: "The parish clerk of Langford, near Wellington, was called Redcock for many years before his death; for having one Sunday slept in church, and dreaming that he was at a cock-fighting, he bawled out, 'A shilling upon the red cock!' And behold, the family are called Redcock to this day."

We have gone through the principal sources from which the greater part of our surnames are derived; but many names yet remain, for the origin of which we are at a loss to account.

But shall we wonder when we consider that names have been taken and bestowed from every imaginable incident and occurrence unknown to us, and that many of them have been so corrupted in process of time, that we cannot trace their originals.

All names must have been originally significant. In the words of our old friend Camden:

"To draw to an end, no name whatsoever is to be disliked, in respect either of original or of signification; for neither the good names doe disgrace the bad, neither doe euil names disgrace the good. If names are to be accounted good or bad, in all countries both good and bad have bin of the same surnames, which, as they participate one with the other in glory, so sometimes in shame. Therefore, for ancestors, parentage, and names, as Seneca said, let every man say, Viz ea nostra voco. Time hath intermingled and confused all, and we are come all to this present, by successive variable descents from high and low; or as he saith more plainly, the low are descended from the high, and contrariwise the high from the low."

Societies and Institutions in Providence.

BROWN UNIVERSITY.

This Institution of learning was founded by the Baptists in 1764, and incorporated in February, of the same year. It was at first located in Warren, where, on the 7th of September, 1769, the first Commencement was celebrated. In 1770 the College was removed to Providence, where its exercises have since been held, with a temporary suspension of some few years during the revolutionary war. The Institution received its present name in honor of its most liberal benefactor, the late Hon. NICHOLAS BROWN, by a vote of the Corporation, passed September 6, 1804.

The Charter, which is now the "Constitution of Brown University," secures to the Baptists forever the government of the College. Some of its provisions are as follows:—"That into this liberal and Catholic Institution shall never be admitted any religious tests; but on the contrary, all the members hereof shall forever enjoy full, free, absolute and uninterrupted liberty of conscience:—And that the places of Professors, Tutors, and all other officers, the President alone excepted, shall be free and open for all denominations of Protestants:—And that youth of all religious denominations shall and may be freely admitted to the equal advantages, emoluments, and honors of the College or University."

The Corporation for the regulation and government of the University, consists of two branches: "That of the Trustees, and that of the Fellowship." There are thirty-six Trustees, and twelve of the Fellowship, including the President. Of the Trustees, twenty-two by the Charter, are to be Baptists, five of the denomination called Friends, or Quakers, four Congregationalists, and five Episcopalians. Of the Fellows, eight are to be Baptists, "and the rest indifferently of any or all denominations." The President must be a Baptist. "The instruction and immediate government of the College," says the Charter, "shall forever be and rest in the President and Fellows, or Fellowship."

In 1850 material changes were made in the system of instruction given at the institution; the range of studies was greatly extended and the sum of $131,000 (raised by subscription, mostly among the citizens of Providence,) was added to the College funds, thus augmenting them to about $200,000

LIBRARIES.

The University Library is in Manning Hall, and now contains 23,000 volumes. A large proportion of these have been purchased within the last few years, with special reference to the wants of students and gentlemen engaged in literary and scientific pursuits. It is constantly increasing from the proceeds of a permanent fund of $25,000, established for this purpose in 1839. The Library is open four hours daily, from 9 A. M. till 1 P. M. In addition to the University Library, the Libraries of the Philhellenian and the United Brothers' Societies comprise together, 6000 volumes, accessible to all the students of the University.

The number of students is about two hundred. The annual Commencement is on the first Wednesday in September. The first Exhibition is on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving, and the second Exhibition on the first Saturday in May. The week of the annual Thanksgiving is given as a recess, and no other recess is given during the year.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Public Schools of the city of Providence are placed by the ordinances of the city, under the management of the School Committee, consisting of forty-four members; twenty-one are elected by the people, three in each of the seven wards; so that, in future, one will be chosen annually, in each of the wards, to hold office three years. Twenty members are chosen by the City Council annually. The Mayor, the President of the Common Council and the Chairman of the Committee on Education are ex-officio members of the School Committee, making the whole number forty-four, who serve without any compensation. The experience of many years has shown, that the members of this Committee, each one feeling more or less heavily the pressure of his own private or professional business, cannot give that amount of time to the Public Schools, which an economical and successful management of them requires. For this reason, they have wisely entrusted much of the executive duty of the Committee to a Superintendent.

Rev. Daniel Leach is the present Superintendent of the Public Schools, and also acts as Principal of the High School. He spends all his time in visiting the different schools, exercising a careful supervision over them, and while passing from school to school, he aims to remove existing defects in the modes of teaching and management, and to introduce such improvements as his own observation and the progress of popular education may have shown to be useful. He also furnishes all necessary supplies, superintends all repairs, and in every practical way promotes the improvement of the Public Schools.

Bleed Through

There are at present established in this city, forty-eight Public Schools, in which are engaged one hundred and thirty-eight teachers; ten gentlemen and the remainder ladies, who devote themselves faithfully to the instruction and government of their respective Schools, which together contains about 7,200 pupils.

These Schools are divided into four grades, viz.:

- | | |
|---------------------------|----------------------|
| 1st. Primary Schools, | 3d. Grammar Schools, |
| 2d. Intermediate Schools, | 4th. High School. |

FIRST GRADE. There are now established in the city twenty-three Primary Schools. These schools are designed for pupils from five years of age to six or seven, according to their advancement in learning. Each school is under the immediate government and instruction of two female teachers, a Principal and an Assistant, and usually contains about one hundred and thirty pupils. The teachers in these schools, beside teaching the elements of Reading, Spelling and Arithmetic, give their pupils much oral instruction of a familiar kind, suited to their age, with daily exercises in Vocal Music.

SECOND GRADE. There are seventeen Intermediate Schools established for children from six to eight or nine years of age, including those who were formerly in the first classes in the Primary Schools, and those in the lowest classes in the Grammar Schools. Each of these schools usually contains about one hundred and twenty pupils, who are under the instruction and management of two female teachers, a Principal and an Assistant. The scholars in these schools advance progressively to more difficult lessons in Reading, Spelling and Arithmetic, and begin to take lessons in Writing and Geography. Vocal Music in these schools is taught by a professional Teacher, employed by the School Committee.

THIRD GRADE. Seven Grammar Schools are now established in the city, for the instruction of scholars from eight or nine years old to twelve or fourteen. Each Grammar School, except the one for colored children, usually contains upwards of two hundred pupils, who are under the government and instruction of a male Principal and three female Assistants.

The Bridgham school contains about 500 pupils. The Elm-street and the Benefit-street contain about 360 pupils each.

In these schools the scholars use a new set of text books, which present more enlarged and accurate views of the branches they have already begun, and in these books continue their exercises in Reading, Spelling, Writing, Arithmetic and Geography, and commence English Grammar, the History of the United States, and General History. Instruction in Vocal Music is given in these schools, and also in the High School, by a professional teacher.

FOURTH GRADE. One High School with two departments—one for boys and one for girls. Each department will now accommodate more than two hundred pupils—making four hundred in the school. The full course of studies in this school occupies four years. The department for boys contains about 150 scholars, and the one for girls about 250. The boys are thus divided into three classes, of fifty each, and placed in separate rooms, under the government and instruction of a male Teacher. The girls are divided into five classes, and each placed in a separate room, under the care and instruction of a female Teacher. The course of studies in each department is adapted to the conditions of the pupils in after life; each sex pursuing all the common branches alike, but the boys taking the more scientific course, and the girls the more literary. The art of Drawing is taught in both departments, by a professional Teacher.

FRIENDS' YEARLY MEETING BOARDING SCHOOL,

Established in 1819.

This Institution is under the direction of a Committee of the New England Yearly Meeting, who appoint Principals and Teachers. The number of teachers varies with the number of scholars, who are taught in the various branches of an English education, including the Mathematics, and the Latin, Greek, and French languages. Lectures are regularly delivered on Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, illustrated by experiments, and occasionally upon other subjects embraced in the course of study in the school.

The school is furnished with a valuable Philosophical and Chemical apparatus. There is also a valuable Cabinet of Minerals belonging to the Institution. The pupils have access to a library of about 1200 volumes.

The number of scholars of both sexes averages about 130.

RHODE-ISLAND STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

This Institution was located in Providence from its establishment in May, 1854, till September 15th, 1857, when, in conformity to a vote of the General Assembly it was removed to the town of Bristol, where pleasant and well-arranged rooms are furnished for its accommodation, free of expense to the State.

By contract with the town the School is to remain there five years. The Board of Instruction consists of Dana P. Colburn, Principal, and Daniel Goodwin, A. M., and Miss H. W. Goodwin, Assistants. The school is under the supervision of John Kingsbury, L. L. D., Commissioner of Public Schools.

All persons joining the school must comply with the following conditions:

1st. They must declare it to be their intention to qualify themselves for teachers in the State.

2d. They must present to the Principal a certificate of good moral character, and of such other personal qualifications as ought to be found in every instructor of the young.

These certificates should, as far as practicable, come from the School Committee of the town to which the applicant belongs, or in which he last attended or taught school.

3d. They must be, if males, at least 17, and if females, at least 16 years of age.

DEXTER ASYLUM.

The general superintendence of this Institution is placed in charge of the Mayor and Aldermen, who act as a Board of Overseers. They hold quarterly meetings at the Asylum on the first Saturdays of August, November, February and May. They also appoint one from their body, weekly, to act as a visiting committee for that period, who reports the next succeeding Monday, to the Board of Aldermen, the state of the establishment during his tour of duty. The immediate charge of the house is in care of a Master and Matron, annually appointed by the Board of Aldermen. The present incumbents are Hollis Chaffin and wife. Divine service is performed in the chapel every Sabbath.

The medical department is entrusted to a Board of Physicians, appointed annually by the Mayor and Aldermen. This Board at present consists of Drs. Collins and Ely, who attend the sick quarterly in succession. Dr. Joseph Mauran is the consulting physician. In all cases of peculiar interest or difficulty, they meet in consultation, keep a record of sickness, a report of which is made to the Board of Overseers, at their quarterly meetings.

Extract from the Fourth Annual Report (1857.)

By the loving kindness of our God, prosperity has in no inconsiderable degree, crowned our efforts. Our Reading Room has been much improved, and is now a most pleasant place of resort for our young men: but added to a comfortable, quiet and even elegant room, we have presented attractions of a higher order. Our tables and files have been supplied with the best selections from our current periodical literature. We have thus furnished for gratuitous use a Reading Room not surpassed, we think, by any one in our city. It has been well patronized. At no time since our organization has the number of visitors been so large as at present.

A course of monthly lectures at the Room, on Monday evenings, have, in general, been well attended. A Class for improvement in debate, recitation, and composition, has sustained its exercises with vigor and interest.

Our library, which at the beginning of the year contained a little over 1000 volumes, now contains more than 2000, while there are funds for a very considerable increase still in the treasury. The circulation of our books is large and constantly increasing. Whole number given out during the year, 3000; greatest number in any one month, 452. It is thought that three fourths of the books have been taken by young men and boys under 20 years of age. Hitherto the privileges of the library have been restricted to the members of the Association, but now they are offered to all, male or female, who are willing to pay the annual tax of one dollar.

With the assurance that we are engaged in a great, good and practicable work, we enter upon a new year, full of courage and confident expectations.

FATHER HENSON'S STORY OF HIS OWN LIFE,

With an Introduction by Mrs. H. B. Stowe, in one handsome volume,
Price 75 Cents.

The history of such a life is more strange and startling than the ideal life of any ro-mancer. It needs no artificial or artistic adornments. A simple and true story of a remarkable man—the color of whose skin caused him to be held as A Slave for Forty Years. Reader, after perusing this book, tell us what you think of a system, which holds and treats such minds in such a manner.

From the Hon. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

U. S. Patent Office, Feb. 28, 1855.

"I take great pleasure in stating that during the time I have been acting as Commissioner of Patents, Samuel Cooper, Esq., of Boston, has been engaged as solicitor, and has been in that capacity in constant correspondence and intercourse with the office; he has evinced a thorough acquaintance with Patent Law, and with the rules and practice of the Office, a close attention to the interests of his clients, and a marked candor and courtesy that has rendered the transaction of business with him a pleasure. I have no hesitation in stating that I regard him as one of the very best agents for the transaction of business with this Office with whom I am acquainted.

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner."

From the EXAMINERS in the PATENT OFFICE.

"The Undersigned, Principal and Assistant Examiners in the United States Patent Office, have for several years been well acquainted with Mr. Samuel Cooper, lately a Principal Examiner in this Office, and take pleasure in stating that he is a gentleman of the highest moral character, of unquestioned knowledge in the business and practice of the Office, and that his scientific attainments are such as eminently fit him for the business in which he is about to engage.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

— OR —

PROTECTED SOLUTION OF PROTOXIDE OF IRON.
 COMBINED.

HAVING SUCCESSFULLY PASSED THE ORDEAL to which new discoveries in the Materia Medica are subjected, must now be received as an established Medicine.

Its Efficacy in Curing Dyspepsia, AFFECTIONS OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, NEURALGIA, BRONCHITIS AND CONSUMPTIVE TENDENCIES, DISORDERED STATE OF THE BLOOD, BOILS, SCURVY, AND THE PROSTRATIVE EFFECTS OF LEAD OR MERCURY, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL DISEASES REQUIRING A TONIC OR ALTERATIVE MEDICINE, IS NOW

Beyond Question.

The proofs of its efficacy are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The Peruvian Syrup does not profess to be a cure-all, but its range is extensive, because many diseases, apparently unlike, are intimately related, and, proceeding from one cause, may be cured by one remedy.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses are accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

Those who may wish for an opinion from disinterested persons respecting the character of the Syrup, cannot fail to be satisfied with the following, among numerous testimonials in the hands of the Agents. The signatures are those of gentlemen well known in the community of Boston, and of the highest respectability.

CARD.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

From our own experience, as well as from the testimony of others, whose intelligence and integrity are altogether unquestionable, we have no doubt of its efficacy in cases of incipient Diseases of the Lungs and Bronchial Passages, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Neuralgia, etc. Indeed, its effects would be incredible, but from the high character of those who have witnessed them, and have volunteered their testimony, as we do ours, to its restorative power.

Rev. John Pierpont, S. H. Kendall, M. D., Peter Harvey, Samuel May, Thomas A. Dexter, Thomas C. Amory, James C. Dunn, Rev. Thos. Whittemore.

Notice.

It is well known that the medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a brief exposure to air, and that to MAINTAIN a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates, and tartrates of the Materia Medica.

CORSLETT'S.

We call the attention of our patrons to the IMPROVED FRENCH CORSET, by Dr. ABBE. It is so arranged that all the natural actions of the Chest are secured, and, unlike the common Corset, can be, and is, worn with great benefit to the health; while the tendency of common Corsletts is to much, and often great injury. These Corslets can be found at

NO. 24 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

Dr. ABBE has, for the last 25 years, given his attention to SPINAL DISEASES, and has thus been compelled to give much attention to the use and effect of Corsets, and has invented this great improvement, so that the multitude who are not deformed may have a Corset that will give a good figure, give every requisite support, and be worn not only without injury, but with great benefit. Dr. ABBE still gives his attention to the treatment of all Deformities of the body and limbs.

CHILSON'S NEW CONE FURNACE,

Just Completed, and Patented in America, England, and France.

THIS INVENTION IS OFFERED AS A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD FOR ALL HEATING PURPOSES

Five Sizes of Cone Furnaces. Five Sizes of Trio Portable Furnaces. Five Size of Trio Stoves.

Elevation of Furnace and Section of Brick-Work. Vertical Section, through Fire Pot, Cones and Annular Chamber, showing the Action of Heat on the Cones.

Thirty years of practical experience as an Inventor and Manufacturer of Heating and Cooking Apparatus, has enabled the undersigned to arrive at certain new discoveries and improvements, to which he begs to call the especial attention of those about erecting, or remodeling buildings, as well as dealers in hot air, steam, or hot water Furnaces, and all interested in steam power, to a careful examination of the most important scientific discovery of the age in the construction of Heating Apparatus, and the most economical plan yet discovered for burning fuel so as to secure all the heat from the fuel. This invention entirely changes the character and principle of hot air Furnaces, developing another and a new principle unknown before. The thorough and highly satisfactory trial of a large number of Cone Furnaces in use the past two winters, clearly proves the most wonderful economy in fuel ever yet attained, together with the extraordinary heating power which insures a certainty of having warm and comfortable rooms, with fresh, healthful warm air. Thus proving the hitherto enormous waste of fuel and unhealthful heat from furnaces to be attributed to the unscientific inventions so illy adapted for the purposes of warming buildings. No intelligent person that can see, or get correct information of the Cone heating principle, will be liable to adopt any other plan for heating buildings.

The Cone Furnace receives the highest commendation from all, especially from persons of the greatest scientific attainments in such matters. It received the first premium and ONLY GOLD MEDAL ever awarded on a Furnace in Massachusetts, at the late Fair of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association, held in Boston.

Cooking Ranges, Stoves, Mantels, Grates, Registers, Ventilators, etc., in full supply as usual. Personal attention given to warming and ventilating buildings. Orders promptly filled from Boston, or the Foundry at Mansfield, Junction of Boston and Providence and Taunton Branch Railroads. NOS. 99 and 101 BLACKSTONE STREET, BOSTON.
