Communication

Introduction

The Capital Improvement Program (CIP) is a five-year program of planned improvements to Providence's public infrastructure. The purpose of the CIP is to facilitate and coordinate future capital improvement projects within the City's current and future financial framework. The yearly Capital Improvement Budget funds the projects listed in the CIP.

The City Charter requires that the Department of Planning and Development (DPD) prepare the five-year CIP and Capital Improvement Budget, and that the City Plan Commission (CPC) review the proposed CIP and budget and approve them for submission to the City Council.

Capital Improvements

A capital improvement is a large expenditure that adds to the worth or capacity of the community's capital plant. Capital improvements are usually paid for through the issuance of municipal bonds, with the principal and interest to pay down the bonds paid through the City's general budget. Improvements to and new construction of public buildings, including schools, are to be funded through Providence Public Building Authority (PPBA) bonds. Improvements to roads, sidewalks, sewers and parks are typically proposed to be funded through the $50,000,000 Neighborhood Bond Program, approved by a voter referendum in November of 2000. The capital improvement funding for the Providence Water Supply Board is through water revenue restricted accounts as mandated by the Rhode Island Public Utilities Commission.

The CIP Process

The CIP process begins when each city department provides the DPD with requests for funding for capital improvements. These include specific requests for the next fiscal year and more general requests for the next four years. DPD staff review the requests with the Finance Director and then provide the requests, analysis of the proposals and a program and budget to the CPC for its review and approval. Upon approval by the CPC, the program is forwarded to the Finance Director and City Council for inclusion in the budget.

Compliance with Providence 2000: The Comprehensive Plan

Providence 2000: The Comprehensive Plan is the City's long-term planning document. It lays out the general policies of the City with respect to land use, housing, economic development, natural resources and environmental protection, historic preservation, community services, recreation and transportation. The CIP is an implementation element of the Comprehensive Plan. As such, the proposed capital improvements must be consistent with the goals set forth in that document.

Highlights of the CIP: Fiscal Years 2004 - 2008

Parks Department

The Parks Department request includes funding to improve several neighborhood parks, create a park at the Riverside Mills site, and develop a botanical center at Roger Williams Park. The funding sources include Parks operating budget, Neighborhood Bond, Trust accounts and master leases. These proposed improvements are consistent with the Parks, Recreation and Open Space element of the Comprehensive Plan in that it calls for improving and developing parks. Total requests 2004-2008: $8,420,000.

Providence School Department

The CIP requests by the School Department to a large extent reflect the need for additional space due to a growing school population. A new high school is proposed to be constructed during f.y. 2004 and 2005. Depending on whether this school is a traditional high school or a performing arts academy, the cost will be $22 million or $27 million. The Conley Stadium at Mt. Pleasant High School is slated for improvements. Renovations to schools citywide are proposed over the next five fiscal years. The improvements are to be funded through Providence Public Building Authority Bonding. All of these proposed improvements are consistent with the Comprehensive Plan in that the Community Services and Facilities element calls for improving the schools and constructing new schools to meet the growing population. Total requests 2004-2008: $117,700,000.

Department of Public Works

The requests for fiscal 2004-2008 include sidewalk repair, roadway reconstruction, rodent control, equipment purchase, DPW building consolidation, and repairs and security improvements to the Fox Point Hurricane Barrier. The funding for these projects is proposed to be a combination of federal funds, neighborhood bonds and departmental budget. All of these proposed improvements are consistent with the Comprehensive Plan in that the Transportation element encourages the maintenance and improvement of the transportation systems citywide. Total requests 2004-2008: $12,700,000.

Department of Recreation

The Department of Recreation is requesting funding for a new 55-passenger bus and a recreation facility in the City's North End. No funding sources have been identified. These proposed improvements are consistent with the Comprehensive Plan in that the Parks, Recreation and Open Space Plan calls for improving recreation facilities. Total requests 2004-2008: $1,467,000.

Providence Water Supply Board

Providence Water's five-year Capital Improvement Plan and five-year Infrastructure Replacement Plan are included with this CIP. The plans include requests for funding for improvements to the raw water supply (primarily dams), treatment plant facilities, the transmission system, the distribution system, pumping and storage, and the support system facilities. The projects are to be funded through water revenue restricted accounts mandated by the Public Utilities Commission. These proposed improvements are consistent with the Comprehensive Plan in that the Community Services and Facilities element calls for the continued improvement to the water supply system to provide high quality water for residential, commercial and other users. Total requests 2004-2008: $73,489,000.

Department of Planning and Development

The Department of Planning and Development is proposing to implement several traffic calming and street enhancement programs. In the Fox Point, Silver Lake and Summit neighborhoods, and in the 11th Ward, traffic calming improvements will include neckdowns, traffic circles, and other devices to slow traffic. On Smith Street and Westminster Street enhancements will include lighting, sidewalk repair, plantings and crosswalk upgrades. Another project proposes to rehabilitate a former mill building at the Riverside Mill site, soon to be a public park. The funding for these projects include Neighborhood Bonds and federal funds. The proposed traffic and streetscape improvements are consistent with in that the Transportation, Parking and Circulation Plan calls for the maintenance of traffic patterns that protect the livability of Providence's residential neighborhoods. The mill restoration project is consistent with the the Comprehensive Plan in that the Historic Preservation Plan calls for the adaptive reuse of historic structures. Total requests 2004-2008: $4,486,690.
