In response to Resolution #310 for increased police patrol to the Coddington Court Project, I call your attention to a copy of a report from the Police Department that was forwarded with a letter, dated June 30, 1972, to the City Council as the result of a similar Resolution received in this office on June 12, 1972. A copy of the report is attached and the situation has not changed as to Community Protection Officers.

Respectfully submitted,

PROVIDENCE POLICE DEPARTMENT

June 30, 1972

To: Colonel Walter A. McQueeney, Chief of Police
From: Major Leo P. Trambukis, Administrative Staff Division
Subject: City Council Resolution Re: Assignment of More Police to Coddling Court Project

Sir:

The attached resolution from the City Council to the Office of the Commissioner of Public Safety sets forth a request for an increase in police patrols of the Coddling Court Housing Development area.

Such measure was made effective on June 25, 1972 with the implementation of the department's new motorcycle task force operation which resulted in the assignment of one patrol unit to an area which includes this site. This post is covered nightly from 6 P.M. to 2 A.M.

Because of the demands for police service facing the department in every part of the city and because of manpower limitations, in my opinion, the assignment of any additional number of regular police officers to this development area would be difficult.

At this time, I believe the most feasible way of increasing a type of police patrol in Coddling Court is by the assignment of Community Protection Officers who have been effective in the city's other housing development areas. Unfortunately, however, the current manpower strength of the CPO force does not permit this action at this time.

The Coddling Court patrol problem has been a matter of consideration for this department and was a prime factor causing the Mayor's Crime Committee (through this department) to prepare and send an application for federal funds to the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in Washington. Through this application, the police department seeks funds necessary to expand the CPO force from the present authorized 22 men by 28 more for a total 50-man force. If approved, CPOs' would be assigned to Coddling Court.

Said application is being reviewed at this moment by LEAA in Washington and at its Boston regional office; a decision is anticipated in the near future. It should be understood that if this application is approved, the police department must have sufficient time to recruit, select and train the additional CPO personnel before they can be deployed in Coddling Court.

Respectfully submitted,

Leo P. Trambukis
