The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to raise the necessary funds to meet its obligations.
 This has been due to a combination of factors, including a decline in foreign aid and a reduction in domestic savings. The second factor is the government's failure to implement effective economic reforms. This has led to a stagnating economy and a loss of confidence in the government.
 The third factor is the government's excessive spending on the military.
 This has diverted resources away from social and economic development.
 The fourth factor is the government's corruption and mismanagement. This has led to a loss of public trust and a decline in the government's effectiveness. The fifth factor is the government's failure to address the needs of the poor. This has led to widespread poverty and social unrest. The sixth factor is the
 effective land reforms. This has led to a concentration of land in the hands of a few wealthy individuals.
 The seventh factor is the government's failure to implement effective labor reforms. This has led to widespread unemployment and social unrest. The eighth factor is the government's failure to implement effective educational reforms. This has led to a decline in the quality of education and a loss of confidence in the government.
 The ninth factor is the government's failure to implement effective judicial reforms. This has led to a loss of confidence in the government's ability to enforce the law. The tenth factor is the
 effective environmental reforms. This has led to widespread pollution and environmental degradation.
